SENSIBLE FASILIONS. Notwithstanding the fact that it is a common practice to ridicule the hoops of the lahas ever been a period since the time that Adam and Eve put on their fig-leaf suits, that men and women dressed more sensibly reference to the ornamentation of their back hair than with a view to the protection of the head, is somewhat exceptional; while it must be conceded that there is some extravagance in the way of flounces, costly silks, H. H. DAVIES, Associate Prof. of Book-Keeping. and huge hoops. But tight lacing is eschewed by all sensible women, street dresses are worn reasonably high in the neck, and a fashionable lady, with her warm under-clothing, her thick shawl, clock or mantilla, her stout boots and her gauntletted hands, cuts a very different figure from the fulldressed dames of fifteen to twenty years ago. who would have been shocked to have worn anything more substantial than gossamer, who would scorn any foot gear more effective than light slippers, and who would be horrified unless her form resembled that of a

Twenty years ago a gentleman would have broadcloth; his overcoat, if he wore one, would the rest of his clothing, would be so tight as to require half an hour's pulling and dancing around, before the getting it on would be accomplished.

Dickens describes a tightly-dressed individual in his Martin Chuzzlewit, who, he said, resembled a cloth sausage, and this stuffed appearance was peculiar to all the fashionables twenty years ago. Their paned down to within an inch of their cassimere lives; coats with tight sleeves, narrow backs, and flat chests were in vogue, and broadcloth was under a constant strain.

Garments are now worn loose and comfortable. The pantaloons of the present day do not impede the movements of the wearer; coats are sack-like in their dimensions; boots are worn thick and comfortable, and without the ridiculously high heels which used to regard to the cut of the garments, and the winter suits of the present day are now constructed of thick woolen stuffs, the mere sight of which would have horrified a fashionable gentleman of the last generation.

ionable gentleman of the last generation.

The present fashions certainly secure the comfort of their followers, while the liability to take colds in winter is much lessened.—
We have also heard it remarked that the number of persons afflicted with dyspepsia are greatly distributed by the color desired.

M'LLE MARS.

When M'lle Mars, the celebrated French horses, carriages, etc., and a hotel in Paris, besides two or three country houses; though her saloon was the most popular of all in Europe had recognized her superiority, and Store, 154 King-street. and rich presents, to her fascinations, she was, nevertheless, the unhappiest woman in France, because, as an actress, people were tired ofher. The witty Eugene de Mirecour gives an account of her pleading with the manager of the Francias to be allowed to aptiful, and do not my eyes shine as in old times?" Poor woman-like Mrs. Siddons, her only pleasure was dressing for the scene and her dearest friends were the dazzling footlights. It was, indeed, hard to forego them. But one night some heartless person threw an "immortelle"-the wreath which the French hang upon tombs -upon the stage, and it fell, as intended, directly at the feet of the actress, whose professional ardor had outlived her beauty. She fled from the stage mortified and horror-struck, bearing the green wreath with her. The harsh lesson was not lost upon her sensitive nature .-"Ah! these canaille of Parisians!" was her observation, and she sadly resigned to the abandonment of the dressing-room, whose gold and silver toilet, set miraculous appointment, etc., were the marvel of Paris, and never entered a theatre again. VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE .- I am authorized by Mrs. Emma B. Carter, to sell ber farm, in Fairfax county, containing about THREE HUNDRED AND THIRTY ACRES, lying between the Little River Turnpike, and the Orange and Alexandria Railroad-a very short distance from either, and bounded partly by the extension of the Manassas Gap Railroad. The distance from Alexandria by the Turupike, is about five miles. One-third of the land is cleared and under fence, and the residue is in wood; and there are about 40 acres of rich bottom land. The tract is well watered by several never-failing springs, and by a stream which runs through it. The improvements are comfortable, consisting of a frame DWELting AND KITCHEN, stables, corn house, the tract is now occupied by Mr. John Malone, who will show it to persons desiring to purchase.

The terms will be made accommodating.

COMPANY.
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA. CAPITAL OVER 350,000 DOLLARS. The Charter of this Company offers more favora-ble advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. It the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the in sured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thou-and seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thou-sand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we teel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prespects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U.
